Wayne Bank’s Andes Community Office Organizes “Artisans For Ava”

Andes, NY – The staff at the Andes Community Office of Wayne Bank will host an event called “Artisans for Ava” on Saturday, February 25th from 2-5 pm at St. John’s Episcopal Church in Delhi.

This event will include a silent auction of pieces donated from local artists, craftsman, and merchants in addition to appetizers passed by members of Girl Scout Troop #285. All proceeds from the event will benefit local Delaware Academy student, Ava Sprague, who was diagnosed with cancer at the end of last year.

Wayne Bank’s Andes Community Office Manager, Michele Bailey, came up with the idea for “Artisans for Ava” and has been planning the event with the help of her staff including Branch Specialist, Andrea Bartow, Teller/CSR, Ellen Brisbane, and Teller/CSR, Jennifer Troost.

“This is a cause that is near and dear to my heart, as Ava is one of my daughter, Bailey’s, best friends.” explains Ms. Bailey. “Ava is a smart, sweet, and talented young woman and she means so much to Bailey and me. It has been amazing to see our local community rallying to help Ava and her family, and it inspired me to do something more. I hope that everyone will come out on February 25th to support 'Artisans For Ava' so that we can work together to help this wonderful young woman. I'm so grateful to my incredible staff, Girl Scout Troop #285, all of the local artisans who have donated their work, and everyone who has been involved with this event."
